IN THE ARMY NOW By Buster Willis

Camp Chuibane enjoyed the spotlight this week with the nation wide broadcast from here over CBS by Sergeant Alvin York, World War No. 1 hero. The broadcast was attended by the entire 82nd Division, which is the one he served with in that war.

His radio address was very good, in case you didn't hear it, but after the broadcast when he started talking man to man with 12,000 troops, comprising the new 82nd, the boys really enjoyed his visit. He called a spade a spade and the Japs what we all think they are.

The speakers stand was in a bottom between two hills in front of Division Headquarters and the troops assembled on the hill side. It was pretty to see a division after combat assemble in ranks and then see the band followed by the color bearers and escort take up their position.

All such occasions seem to have some humorous highlights which were different. We have a farmer boy from Illinois about 19 years old, in the Anti-Tank Company. He didn't know that Sergeant York was a person but had seen the picture of that title and was supremely disappointed when Gary Cooper didn't appear on the speakers stand.

Since some of us softies are beginning to get in some semblance of physical condition, our day has been lengthened and the following letter isn't far from right. The difference between us and the army is that we have food and no mountains, but our mud is about twice as deep. This letter was actually written by a Private in a camp near the Atlantic Seaboard.

Dear Buster:

I am very enthusiastic about Army camp life. We lie around in the sun until 5 o'clock. This of course gives us plenty of time to get washed, shaved, dressed, make our bunks, etc., by 5:10. By 5:15 we stand outside and shiver until some one blows the bugle. After we are reasonably clean, we groan and say "Well, enough of the darkness to the mess hall." Here All (Continued on page 2)

CARS NOT IN USE ARE TO BE SOLD FOR SCRAP IRON

Automobiles that are not in use for 60 days are to be scrapped and sold for junk. Government officials, at a meeting in Miami Tuesday, gave the "graveyard" owners and scrap iron dealers notice that they were to get rid of the iron "one way or another." That taught me a lesson. No more gambling for me. One of the boys who was swum in with me was from West Palm Beach. Some bellhop. Anyway the Sergeant was asking the direction of the bellhop to be. After asking everyone else he came to the bellhop "What do you want to be, shorty?" he asked. "Mister, I want to be an ex-soldier," came the reply.

One of the officials stated that 1,000,000 cars would be off the road by the first of Aug., and that the Government wanted all of us to do the same or old, that are not used for a period of 60 days will have to be junked and sold to the scrap iron dealer for junk. Eight dollars per ton is the usual amount paid for scrap iron.

Police Powers To Stop Labor Slow Down Requested

Draft Board Resolution Urges Stoppage of Labor Walk-Outs

Sit down strikes in the Glades? "Come to think of it maybe," says. Well, come to think of it some more, we do have 'em."

"When a negro goes to the street gets a nickel, one for bread and one for gas, and then quits, I guess he is on a sit-down strike. When another bunch begins picking at eleven o'clock and picks 'til two and then quits, I guess he's on a sit-down strike too, because he's not working and that's what he wants." When he's got a miser (from too much jockeying the night before) or when he's got a sick grandmother or a friend in jail he sees about, yes, I guess he's on a sit-down or a slow-down."

"Quarantine, unfortunately, we have sit-downs and slow-downs strikes in the bean fields of the Glades."

This is a Shanghai solo-logy of the Glades.

The local Draft Board gets down to business and makes a very definite recommendation and executive resolution through the subject of farm labor in a resolution passed Tuesday at a regular meeting, as follows:

"WHEREAS this Board is continuously faced with the necessity of classifying farm labor, because a majority of the members of the territory of the Board is toward the production of foodstuffs which are either sold direct to the armed forces as green vegetables or to canning plants for direct orders from said armed forces;

AND WHEREAS there is a great number of farm laborers who are normally subject to classification as 3-A, due to dependents;

AND WHEREAS we are informed by large farmer employers, and believe it to be so, that from 30 to 50 per cent of the men employed in agriculture in our territory are lost through refusal to work, or in effect "sit-down" action, and we have reported to you, the names of persons participating in such slowdown activities,

AND WHEREAS, careful counts of printing houses, brokers and farmers disclose that not more than 40 percent of the remaining 7,000 acres of beans, celery and tomatoes already grown and to be harvested within the next 30 days, will be harvested on account of the labor shortage and the above mentioned slowdown activities;

AND WHEREAS, that students of such activities anticipate a greatly magnified state of confusion for the coming season and that definite action and that definite and effective action is needed by the Board for war purposes "whether we make any money or not."

"The involved chemical processes of converting the juice of sugar cane, the starch of sweet potatoes and the oil of peanuts into products for various needs and explosives are difficult for most of our dirt farmers to understand. But the growers of the lake region have accepted at face value the word of the experts of the U. S. Sugar Corp., that we can obtain and they have communicated to the department of agriculture their determination to do our share in the successful prosecution of the national war effort," said the commissioners.

Mayes revealed that a committee of 100 farmers holding more than 100,000 productive acres around the shores of Lake Okeechobee had addressed resolutions to him, to other state officials and to the War Production Board asking that everything possible be done to insure prompt construction of necessary processing facilities.

The Legion regrets the necessity of taking the action but that because of tire and gas rationing, blackouts and inability to use school buses the decision was necessary.

Mrs. Carl Ogle has gone to Spokane, Wash., to spend several months visiting relatives.

Proven Worth

The agricultural marketing cooperatives are doing many an important job for the farmers of this country. Two of those jobs deal with improving production methods and stabilizing and expanding markets.

That kind of work is doubly important now. War has brought the farmer a long list of new and difficult problems, such as scarcity of labor, and unprecedented wages when labor is available. If the farmer is to make a go of it, he must get maximum output at minimum cost.

War has also disrupted and changed markets. The rubber shortage is making normal transportation methods impossible in many areas. The co-ops have their hands full in helping their members make the swift adjustments that are necessary.

These farm organizations have proven their worth. They have earned their place as a definite factor in present-day agriculture.

Threat To Small Business

The gravest threat to small business that has yet appeared, is found in the proposal to freeze all prices as of a given date.

A very large percentage of small businesses are in the retail field. These concerns sell food, hardware, clothes, furniture—a thousand and one commodities which the consumers of the nation must have. And retailing will be subjected to incredible disruption if the "freeze everything" policy is adopted.

Retailers have been among the most active opponents of price inflation. They have cooperated to the fullest possible extent with the government in every effort so far made to hold prices down. As part of that work, and at the direct request of high government officials, thousands of retailers have refrained from basing their prices on replacement cost. Instead, they have based their prices on original cost— even though the wholesale cost may be much higher than when their stock was bought. In some instances, present wholesale cost is as high or higher than the price charged at retail for goods bought some time ago.

If prices are arbitrarily frozen, retailers will not be able to make the adjustment between wholesale and retail costs that is necessary if they are to earn sufficient profit to stay in business. In some cases, they would do no better than break even. Bankruptcy would be the eventual result.

Sound price control means, first, a reasonable ceiling on farm prices and wages—two of the most dangerous inflationary factors. Then the balance between wholesale and retail prices must be carefully and fairly established. "Blanket price fixing," which does not take into account the wide lag between wholesale and retail prices, and which leaves labor free to make any additional wage demand it wants, would be ruinous to our economy. And small retail business would be hit first and hardest.

Prob'ly Facts

By DICK LEFILS

There's an old saying you can't lick a laughing nation. How true that run to life today for the other day I was talking to a fellow that is running one of the oil tankers that has been ploughing up and down our coast lines, hauling high test gasoline and oil products. You see, I know each time we sail out of port may be our last, but you know, a coward dies a thousand times and a brave man only dies once. So, I guess we may be a little brave or else we don't care anything about dying so many times as long as we do a good job of it at all.

"I guess we would all go crazy," he continued, "if we didn't find a few little things to laugh some of our fears away while we're at sea. I have slept so long with my clothes on, using a steel deck for a mattress, with life preservers strapped around me until I can't sleep in a good bed without filling it full of junk of some kind."

I know there is lots of people wondering why we don't quit. Well, we have some pretty good excuses for not quitting our jobs (1) is that we're more fit to carry on than anyone else; (2) nobody else is doing anything like us; (3) we eat good (21) our pay and eats are good (3) but not the least, if we quit it's just like playing checkers, for every time you move without an awful good excuse the F. B. I. jumps in.

One of my shipmates is living closer to the Almighty than he's ever lived before, in fact, he has gone so far as to order himself a set of knee pads to where the rough deck won't be so hard on himself, for you know a good

After going ourselves with the same old rations, we took our way back to the barracks. We have nothing to do until 7:30 so we just sit around and scrub latrines, mop floors, wash windows and pick up all the cigarette butts and matches sticks within a radius of 150 feet of our barracks.

Soon the Sergeant comes in and says: "Come out in the sun kiddies," so we go out in the wonderful sunshine and bask while we stand six inches in mud.

To liven things up a bit we do a few simple calisthenics like jumping rope, with both feet off the ground, and grabbing yourself by the hair and holding yourself at arms length.

At 8 o'clock we put on a light pack and start walking to the mess hall for dinner. It's hard not to be confused with the heavy pack. The light pack includes a gun, bayonet, canteen, mess kit, coat, cartridge belt, first aid kit, pup tent, stakes, tent pole, shovel, and a few other things. I have a pack that has a blanket or two in it.

Carrying my pack I weigh 227 pounds. (I weighed 147 pounds when I left.) So you can see how easy and agreeable it is to romp and play in the mountains.

The school bus follows us as we climb the steep hills and picks up the fellows who faint. The boys who fall out in the mountains are treated very well. They give them six months in the guard house, but they do not have to face court martial. At 12:30 we get to the mess hall to the infirmary. At the infirmary are divided into two classes, (1) those who have athlete's foot; (2) those who have colds. If you have a cold, you get your feet swabbed with iodine and then clean. If you have neither a cold nor athlete's foot, you are sent to the guard house for impersonating an officer.

I am very popular at the infirmary. I told them I have both a cold and athlete's foot. What a I really have is gastric ulcers, but I never knew to keep my mouth shut.

Well, that's all I have to write tonight. I've got to rush to the mess hall. We're having bombing tonight. Oh boy! Why don't you get transferred to my outfit?

I'm keeping the door open for you. I'll be looking for you, friend Jerry.

BAPTIST CHURCH TO HAVE BIBLE SCHOOL

The local Baptist church announces the coming Vacation Bible school, registration day on June 12 at 9 a.m., and classes Monday through Friday, June 15-29. The daily program is promptly at 9 a.m. and the class will continue until 11:30. Students of the school will be entertained at a picnic on the afternoon of the school's last day, June 29.

The purpose of the Vacation Bible School will be threefold: To provide wholesome recreation, to teach the joy of giving to others, and to increase the spiritual life by means of systematic study of the Bible. There will be daily periods of personal instruction supervised by trained teachers. The children will have opportunity to develop manual skills by producing gifts for others who need them. The class work will center in Bible teaching and Biblical illustrations.

The school will welcome all children in Belle Glade during its ten-day session. Transportation will be provided for those living in outlying districts. All Baptist children sixteen years of age and any others who might be interested are cordially invited to attend.

BETTER LEARN to walk pretty quick, Junior. When the family car gives out, you'll have to start walking, too.

No use crying. It's the war, you know. So give Dad this tip. Tell him that Sinclair Dealers have developed a special Sinclair-ize service that makes cars last longer. Tell Dad that just as American railroads, airlines and the U. S. Army use Sinclair lubricants to save wear on vital transportation equipment, so can Sinclair Dealers use specialized Sinclair lubricants to save wear on your family's car.

Tell Dad to ask his nearby Sinclair Dealer about this service today. He'll find that Sinclair-ize service can save him money and worry, too.

J. B. JONES
In last weeks paper we printed a note from J. B. about his money problems. Luther wrote him back and said he did not think that much. In World War No. 1, Luther had to do his laundry every night. This is J. B.'s reply.

"Thought you cracked about having to do your laundry every night very appropriate and don't blame you. But you see this is a much better and more expensive war than were in. Your war only cost about forty four billion dollars and what this war is costing. Makes you all a bunch of pokers. Ha-Ha."

One of our friends who does not want us to use his name wrote, "You know I have the same feelings as you do. I would like to lose our large percentage of men as they lost in the last war. They won't send an outfit into action until it is completely equipped and we certainly have better weapons than anything the opposition has. I believe you are going to teach Germany the proper meaning of the word 'blitzkrieg'. It's a war of machines and science and these boys are anxious to work these machines see what happens."

CELERY SPRAY RIG BUILT FOR FLEMING

Shown above is the largest celery spray rig in the Glades, specially designed and built for Sam Fleming, one of the most progressive farmers in this territory. Mr. Clyde Green, better known as "Pop" Green, designed and constructed the rig.

The sprayer has an approximate capacity of 450 gallons, with a spraying spread of from ten to thirty rows. It is designed to Earl and Jessieh in part as follows:

"Hey! You Muck rats, I've been figuring on going up there shortly, but according to the schedule here I'm doing very little the last week at my expense. It will be on your Uncle's time when I do.

I've had all the slots they can give a bird. Vaccinated against typhoid, taking your nature of blood in case of a transfusion, not least but last, trichloride—that's against blood poisoning. So to date I'm ready to go places."

AUTO ACCIDENT

No one was hurt seriously, although Mrs. Harrelle did bump her head just above the eye. Both ears were badly smashed in and had to be towed off the road.

ESQUIRE MAY DANCE HELD AT JR. COLLEGE

Miss Lily Davis, sophomore of Palm Beach Junior College, was crowned queen at the Esquire May Dance, an annual affair to honor county high school seniors. The dance was held this year at the Esquire Club, Army, Miss Davis selected for her popularity as well as her beauty; is five feet, six inches tall, has brown hair and brown eyes.

Misses Inez Lee, Palm Beach High, Emma Selzer, St. Ann's High, Katherine Parr, Lake Worth High and Fred Prince, Delray Beach High, were attendants to the queen. Miss Davis was crowned by David Bryan, president of the Esquire Club, sponsor of the dance, and was presented a locket by the Phi Delta fraternity.

The Esquire Club, an organization for all the boys at the junior college, sponsored the dance as the last of their activities for the school term of 1941-42. Several hundred high school seniors and junior college students attended. Music was provided by the Tropical Knights orchestra.

MRS. EMMONS GUEST OF JUNIOR WOMEN

Charles T. Gay, District Supervisor, Statewide Library Project, Miami and Mrs. Marjorie B. Emmons, State Supervisor, Statewide Library Project of Jacksonville, visited the Belle Glade library and inspected the war information center that was recently established for the information of people in Belle Glade and surrounding territory. The center is a new set-up which has been started.

Mrs. Emmons was the guest speaker at the regular meeting of the Junior Women's Club and explained the benefit this library and others throughout the state are receiving through the Works Progress Administration.

She stated that this library will be able to obtain important books on war information and new books for the children's summer reading contest which has been planned to begin soon.

Illustrated Lecture Enjoyed At School
A group of interested citizens gathered at the school auditorium Tuesday night and heard Ernest F. Coe, director of the Everglades National Park, describe and lecture on the Park. His illustrations color slides on the wild life, flowers, fish and construction of the Park were enjoyed by all.

The Park, expected to be finished by the time the war is over, is one of the most beautiful caterpillar type, wooden block sprayers, which enables it to operate on wet as well as dry ground.

This is the fifth sprayer built for various farmers in the Glades by Mr. Green but according to Mr. Green it is by far the largest and best to date.

"Pop" came to this section four years ago with the Manly construction Co. and until the past year was master mechanic for Wedgeworth Growers and is now in charge of Mr. Fleming's equipment.

Mr. Coe has an appointment to Earl and Jessieh in part as follows:

"Hey! You Muck rats, I've been figuring on going up there shortly, but according to the schedule here I'm doing very little the last week at my expense. It will be on your Uncle's time when I do.

I've had all the slots they can give a bird. Vaccinated against typhoid, taking your nature of blood in case of a transfusion, not least but last, trichloride—that's against blood poisoning. So to date I'm ready to go places."

Lions Hear Wilson Report on Convention

A report on the convention of Lions at Miami was given by J. W. Wilson, president elect of the club at the regular meeting Wednesday.

Fellowship and good clean fun made the convention a complete success stated Mr. Wilson.

"What the Lions Club Can Do in the War Effort," was the theme of the meeting and everybody present appreciated the seriousness of the problem and made an all-out effort to solve the problems presented.

Results of the attendance contest were not given, but the time is short and everyone is interested in the outcome. Attendance is welcome and to date two new members have been added to the roll.

MORTALS AND IMMORTALS Subject of Scientist

"Mortals and Immortals" is the subject of the lesson-sermon which will be read in Churches of Christ, throughout the world on Sunday, May 17.

The Golden Text is: "They that are after the flesh do mind the things of the flesh; but they that are after the Spirit the things of the Spirit" (Romans 8:5).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "For thou has delivered my soul from death: wilt not deliver my feet from falling, that I may walk before God in the light of life?" (Psalms 31:10).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "God expresses in man the law of his own never developing, self, broadening, and rising higher and higher from a boundless basis. Mind manifest all that exists in the infinitude of Truth. Mortals have a very imperfect sense of the spiritual mind and of the infinite range of his might, his strength, and eternal Life" (p. 258:13-16, 23-27).

as much as we had in the last war. And today's power is quickly available at almost any point of need because of carefully planned interconnected transmission systems.

How has all this been done? Why does the average household get about twice as much electricity for its money as it did fifteen years ago? . . . Simply because America's electric companies have been built and operated the American way—by good business management.

Invest in America! Buy Defense Bonds and Stamps

We cheered, too, when the Government on industry to work twenty-four hours a day, seven days a week, until this war is won.

But continuous production is nothing new to the electric industry. We've always worked that way—all year round—in peace or war.

That's one big reason why we were prepared to power the factories that are filling the sky with planes, the earth with tanks, and the sea with ships.

Production schedules that stagger the world are possible only because America is so powerful. America has far more electric power than all the Axis countries combined—five times
